This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

12. A statement of bonds paid in full from the proceeds of the two mill tax, January 1, 1861.
13 and 14. Tabular statements of real and personal property, assessed and taxed for the years 1860 and 1861.
15 and 16. Statements of the taxes charged in the several counties, amount collected, etc., for the years 1860 and 1861.
17 and 18. Statements of the school tax fund for the years 1860 and 1861.
19. A statement of the dividends of the school tax and interest funds for the years 1860 and 1861.
20. A statement of the accounts of the State Treasurer, with the several State funds.
21 to 26, inclusive—the several statements and tables exhibiting the condition and affairs of the banks of the State, organized under the provisions of the general banking law.

The business transacted in this office, during the period embraced in this report, has been of unusual amount and importance. In addition to the usual transactions of this department, the important duty of winding up a large number of the banks of the State, together with the payment of the large amount of claims accruing against the State for war purposes, has greatly increased the business and labor of the office.

The laws passed at the called session of the twenty-second General Assembly, in April and May, 1861, provided for the creation of a war fund, and the appointment of Commissioners to audit accounts and claims against the same; and required the auditor to issue warrants on the Treasurer for the payment of such claims and accounts as might be allowed by said Commissioners and approved by the Governor. The business of this office, arising from this class of accounts, has been very large, and, in some respects, perplexing. The number of warrants issued against the war fund has been more than double those issued for all other purposes, in the same time; and there is yet a considerable number of accounts allowed and approved, for payment of which application has not been made. There is, also, a class of accounts remaining unpaid, for which the issue of warrants is refused—not because of any doubt on my part as to their merits, but because of the provision contained in section 5 of the act creating the war fund, etc., which requires, that "all claims and accounts accruing against the State for war expenses and disbursements, which are specified in this act, and which have already accrued, shall be presented within three months from the passage of this act, and all other claims shall be presented within three months from the accruing of the same, or the same shall be considered as donated to the State, and shall not thereafter be allowed, under any pretense whatever." In a number of instances accounts and claims reported to this office for payment bear on their face evidence of presentation for allowance after the expiration of the limit made by law. Discovering this to be the case, I immediately called on the Commissioners for explanations, and was informed by them that all such allowances were included with the properly allowed accounts, through inadvertence or oversight; for which reason I have refused to issue warrants, and the accounts are consequently suspended, until action may be taken by your honorable body, if deemed by you advisable. I have no doubt that many, if not all, of the accounts referred to, are of as meritorious character as those which have been more promptly presented for allowance.

The 9th section of the same act provides that the auditor shall, annually, assess a tax, sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds authorized to be issued under said act. The rate of tax assessed for this purpose, for the yearf 1861 and 1862, is five cents on the one hundred dollars of valuation of taxable property. The first and second installments of interest on the bonds issued, fell due before any considerable amount of the tax was realized from collections. I presume that the amount hereafter to be realized will be entirely sufficient for the payment of the accruing interest.

The diminution in amount of taxable property assessed in the several counties, referred to in my last report, is found to continue from year to year, and, in my opinion, to a far greater extent than any actual depreciation in value of property will rationally account for. I have endeavored to learn, by inquiry of officers and others, from the different counties, the real causes which operate to bring about the decrease of assessments, and I learn that, in nearly every one of the counties, the impression is held that the property of every other county is assessed at a lower rate than the property of the one in question, and that, in consequence, many of the assessors endeavor to equalize the general assessment, by bringing the valuation of their own counties down to the standard of value supposed to govern in other counties. I have learned of several instances in which candidates for the office of assessor have openly offered, as an inducement to voters, that, if elected, they would assess property at rates less than its value. It has also been suggested to me that in some of the counties under township organization, it is the practice of town assessors to meet and agree on fixed uniform rates for valuing each description of property taxed, without regard to the actual value of the lands or other property listed. It seems necessary that some remedy should be provided for these and other abuses of the intentions and provisions of the revenue laws.

The existing condition of the financial matters of our State and of the whole country seems to require a modification of the laws prescribing the kind of funds in which taxes may be paid. Complaints are continually being made that it is, in most of the counties, entirely impracticable to obtain coin for the payment of taxes, even at any rate of premium; and it is represented that if the United States Treasury currency was legally receivable for taxes, no difficulty would be experienced in making collections. I am fully convinced that all demands against the State can be met with this currency.

The Illinois Central Railroad Company, having failed to furnish the Auditor with the lists and valuation of their property and assets, required by their charter, and having failed to pay over to the State Treasurer the taxes due from them for the latter half of the past year and the first half of the present year, I have brought suit against them, in the Sangamon county circuit court, with the view of compelling their compliance with the requirements of their charter, in this respect. Another installment of taxes is now due from them, but I am not informed of their intentions concerning payment.

At the date of my last report there were in operation one hundred and ten banks, organized under the general banking law, having a circulation of $12,320,694. The great depreciation in the value of stocks, particularly of those issued by southern states, which followed the breaking out of the rebellion, necessitated a call by the Bank Commissioners on the banks, to make good the securities deposited with the Auditor. And of the banks then in existence in Illinois, all but seventeen have been put in liquidation, under the provisions of the law, for neglect to comply with the call for additional securities.

The present circulation of banks in operation is $566,163. The larger part of the reduction in the amount of circulation was caused by the voluntary act of bill-holders retiring notes and taking bonds therefor. Every facility was given for doing this; and I delayed selling the securities of the defaulted banks, so long as any considerable amount of notes were held by parties who preferred to take the securities. The balance of the securities were sold, the proceeds realized in coin, and pro rata dividends declared, at rates, which allowing for the present premium on coin, makes the average value of the money of suspended banks now outstanding, nearly par.

Five banks have been organized under the provisions of the amended law of February 14, 1861; to which circulation has been issued, amounting in the aggregate, to $51,945. Two of the old banks have complied with the provisions of the amended law, and received additional circulation.

The constantly increasing records and files of the Auditor's office, together with the amount of business transacted, require additional room and facilities, for the proper preservation of the valuable documents and books placed in the Auditor's keeping, and for the performance of the various and complicated duties devolving upon him. I would respectfully urge upon your honorable body to make provisions to that end.

JESSE K. DUBOIS,
Auditor of Public Accounts.
